

OU POLO AND EQUESTRIAN CLUB

The University of Oklahoma has much to offer in terms of polo and academics. As an academic institution, we offer over 154 majors, rank 15th in the nation for Entrepreneurship & Venture Management by Princeton Review, rank 1st in the nation for Meteorology, house the new national weather center, and rank 1st in the nation for most national merit scholars. We have a 19:1 student-teacher ratio even though we have over 20,000 students, average a 25.6 ACT score, average a 3.6 HS GPA, offer over 350 student organizations, sit on 2,290 acres, and have won 25 national championships. We also offer study abroad programs in North and South America, the Middle East, Asia, Europe, Oceania, and Africa. Through the very diverse nature of this prestigious public institution, we offer nearly any opportunity you may desire in terms of academics coupled with a highly respected degree once you graduate.

Now that you have a minor grasp on the merits of a degree from the University of Oklahoma, why should you come for our polo program? The Oklahoma Polo team is located at Broad Acres Polo Club also known as Bob Moore Farms. This is home not only to our polo team, but Sunny Hale (ranked #1 in the world), Dale Smicklas (former 8-goal player), Ted Moore (4-goal player), and many more high-powered, high-class professionals. They play professional polo in the spring, summer, and early fall which allows the club access to some of the best polo in the United States. Our facilities sport 3 full sized outdoor fields, 1 practice field, 1 newly built arena, 5 hot-walkers, office facilities, and 5 large barns. When the club isn't playing college polo, we have the unique opportunity to watch and sometimes play with the worlds best on the outdoor fields. In the past, some have even groomed for Sunny.

In summary, the Oklahoma Polo & Equestrian Club offers solid academic credentials, a growing collegiate club with a history dating back to 1923, and off-season professional opportunities. This is a combination that no other collegiate polo club can offer, which is why we urge you to join us here in Norman, Oklahoma!
